PUBLIC SERVICE TO REDUCE ELECTRICAL RATES

The reduction in rates of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois for residential electric service beginning with regular meter readings taken on and after August 1st, has been announced by the general offices of that company. The new rates will effect a saving of more than a million dollars to users of the company's residential service over a period of twelve months. It was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on Tuesday of this week.

The new reduced residential rate, as made public by John G. Learned, vice-president of the company, will be 8c, 7c, 5c, and 3c (net) per kilowatt-hour, except in Arlington Heights, Kenilworth, Lake Bluff and Melrose Park where the initial portion of the rate will be 1c higher due to ordinance provisions, according to the amount of electricity used in a month, and the number of rooms in a home will be the basis of computing the charges, instead of the number of sockets, which is the present practice.

"We are pleased to make this new rate available to our residential customers," said Mr. Learned, "because it makes it possible for the average householder to have greater use of the conveniences which electricity brings into the home at a lower cost than before."

New Lenox Holds Impressive Memorial Program

The New Lenox Memorial Day program held last Friday morning was one of the best presented in years. The exercises were held in the M. E. church, the program beginning at 10:15 a. m. The fife and drum corp of the F. O. E. of Joliet was the feature of the program. The corp played a number of selections in front of the church.

When the program opened the corp marched into the church followed by the school children with flowers and flags who marched to seats reserved for them as also did the Boy and Girl Scouts.

America was sung by all followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The roll call of the departed soldiers buried in the various cemeteries in New Lenox township was read by Miss Harriett Francis.

Next was a vocal solo by Mrs. Ray Osms followed by another selection by the fife and drum corps.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. D. H. Ross, pastor of the New Lenox M. E. church which was very ably delivered and to the point.

At the close of the program a line of march was formed which headed by the fife and drum corps proceeded to the Maplewood cemetery. Here the children placed the flowers and flags on the soldiers graves. A cenotaph had been erected in honor of the unknown soldier dead and here Carl Rosenbaum, Past Commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Cantigny Post No. 367, Joliet, gave a very stirring address. At the conclusion of his remarks, a salute was fired by Guy Knickerbocker followed by "taps".

The program was very inspiring. David M. Lockwood, president of the Lions Club was the chairman of the day.

Tinley Legion Notes

For a long time various Legion Posts in Chicago and suburbs have wondered how it is that the local post conducts such successful dances. Last Saturday they came and they saw. Large representations Englewood and Sullivan Posts were present along with the ordinary large crowd from Tinley Park and surrounding territory. Among the distinguished Legionnaires present were Past District Commander Boyle and Chaplain Tom Daney of Englewood Post. The crowd enjoyed the dancing to music furnished by Formento's Orchestra. The profits of the dance were as usual quite large in amount.

Using the impressive ritual of the American Legion, Tinley Park honored its war dead on Memorial Day. The exercises opened with prayer by Chaplain E. B. Campbell. Commander Hoar in a few well chosen words expressed the sentiments of the Legion regarding the soldier dead of all wars. He was followed by the Rev. Paul T. Sanders, pastor of the M. E. church at Orland Park. As one who saw service in the World War, Comrade Sanders was enabled to depict the horrors of warfare and to impress upon his audience the benefits of peace. In the course of his address he quoted in full Ed. McCrae's beautiful poem, "In Flanders Fields" and that well known "Gettysburg Address" of Abraham Lincoln which European literary men regard as a masterpiece of American literature. The American Legion agrees whole heartedly with Rev. Mr. Sanders that it is for us, the living, to "carry on" the work that our dead comrades of all wars have started, to bring peace on earth and understanding among nations and make our great country, "safe for democracy".

Following the address, a detail commanded by Sergeant-At-Arms Mager placed an American Legion wreath and a flag on each grave. An unusual feature was the laying of wreaths on a grave by Mrs. R. Hug, President of the Garden Club and Mrs. E. Moss, Oracle of the R. N. A. The participation by these organizations was greatly appreciated by the Legion. The services closed with "Taps" played by Bugler Wade of the Boy Scouts.

An unusually good program has been planned for Flag Day, Saturday, June 14 at 7:30 p. m. At that time the Post will dedicate a flagpole presented by the Legion to the Public School and a flag given to the school by the Parent-Teachers Association. The detailed program is tentatively as follows:

Parade to school ground.
Music by Homewood Community Band.

Address by Com. Frank Hoar.
Prayer by Chaplain E. B. Campbell.

Music by Band.
Presentation of flag by Mrs. Geo. Rowden, President Tinley P. T. A.

Dedication of flag pole and flag by Tinley Park Legion Post.
Presentation of flagpole to the School Board by Commander Hoar.

Acceptance on behalf of School Board, President Bert H. Fulton.
Pledge of allegiance to the flag, Boy Scout Troop No. 1.

Music by Band.
Address by A. L. Poorman, Department Service Vice-Commander.

Retreat, Tinley Park Post and Band.

On the same evening and at the same place the P. T. A. will hold an ice cream social. Profits of the affair will be used for buying instruments for the Toy Band at the School.

The public is most cordially invited to attend this demonstration of Americanism and the co-operative efforts of these two organizations to do everything possible for the children of the community.

The Post feels highly honored in that it now has a minister for its newest member. The Rev. Paul T. Sanders of Orland Park joined the Post Monday evening.

Post members are urged to keep in mind the next meeting on Monday, June 16. Efforts are being made to secure one or more speakers of distinction. Watch for further announcement.

Chicken Thieves Make Big Haul

Chicken thieves have been busy in the country north of Mokena the past week. They made a raid on the farm of Bartel Andersen at Alpina and stole 250 chickens.

McIntosh Co. Starts Frankfort Development

Frankfort is now on the verge of a subdivision boom. The McIntosh Realty Co., who purchased the former Mitchell farm east of Frankfort sometime ago, are busy subdividing this property. New homes are already springing up. Water is being furnished by wells and a water tower is being planned. Gas is being piped out there. Electricity also is being installed. It is understood a large share of this property has already been sold. The bus line is the only means of transportation at present, but it is understood that a movement is on foot to induce the Michigan Central to electrify their line for passenger service.

To the Public

In reference to the article regarding "No Memorial Day Program" let it be understood that I aim to be just as good a citizen as any resident of Mokena, but do not think it right to nominate a person when said person is not present; surely in this day and age a person has a right to state whether or not he wishes to hold an office and as I was absent from the Memorial exercises last year I certainly did not feel it was my duty to fill this office having never officially accepted same.

As for forgetting the graves let it be emphatically understood that I as well as another well respected citizen of Mokena decorated all the soldiers graves with flags as has been the custom for many years. As far as that is concerned, if some of the people claim to be so patriotic why don't they endeavor to fix up the old cemetery in which so many honored men lie and make it a credit to our town instead of letting it be overrun with weeds and leaning tombstones? As for flowers coming out of the Memorial fund it has never been necessary to use any money for the flags, as they have been donated for the past two years and no mention made of same, but now feel it is necessary that some of these things come to the surface.

I, therefore, do not feel responsible in any way for Mokena not having had a Memorial service this year as I was elected without my consent and in the future would like to be consulted before being given an office.

He leaves to mourn him, his widow, Alvina, nee, Schwiesow, one daughter, Mrs. Olga Cartens of Green Garden, three sons, Alvin and Harold of Green Garden, Osmar of Frankfort, and two grandchildren.

Bremen Twp. Reps. Hear School Talk

Mr. Fred Goebel of Tinley Park, who for ten years has held the office of township treasurer gave a lecture on Monday evening to the members of the Bremen Township Republican Club in the Woerheide Hall, at Midlothian, Illinois.

Mr. Goebel showed by means of a map, the boundaries of the various school districts of the township, gave statistics on schools dating back to 1862, such as number of teachers employed compared with present day, number of pupils, and gain in succeeding years, money levied, indebtedness of the various districts and also named the members of the school board from 1862 to date.

The Bremen Township Republican club at its regular meeting Monday evening decided to give a picnic on June 29. Location to be announced in later issue of this publication. Gangsters Cause Night Alarm At Orland

The slimy and bloody trail of Cook County gangsters is extending to territory near at home. Some weeks ago Chicago Heights gangsters appeared in Orland Park and made threats about taking James Cannon for a ride if they could find him. Last Thursday night a gangster out fit drove into town and proceeded to the home of Mr. Cannon with the hope of catching him asleep, but Mr. Cannon saw the gang first according to the story in circulation and leaped out of a rear window, making his get-away. Officer Carl Quigley was called but the gangsters had gone.

If every known gangster were shot on sight the same as they do with their victims, there would be an end of gangdom in short order. Gangsters are nothing but rats and should be exterminated the same as rats. All who hobnob with this criminal outfit are no more than rats either.

Auto Stolen At Mokena

Automobile thieves visited Mokena Friday night and stole a new Pontiac car from the garage of Francis Moriarty. The theft was not discovered until Saturday morning. The car was fully insured. No trace has been found of the car or the thieves. Mr. Moriarty has bought a new car.

A nery daylight robbery was perpetrated in Mokena Monday afternoon. Dr. E. G. McMahon left his car parked in front of his residence. He had left his medicine kit in the car and when he entered the car a short time later he found the medicine kit had been stolen.

Cyclonic Storm Does Much Damage

A storm of cyclonic proportions swept thru Will and Cook counties Thursday afternoon. Many trees were blown down, small buildings were wrecked and many poles of the Bell Telephone Co., and of the Public Service Co., were blown down. Telephone poles were downed from the Ed. Maue farm to the northeast of Mokena to the Maple road. Gangs of linemen were at work shortly after the storm was over. Mokena and nearby towns had no electric service for hours as a result of the heavy damage Public Service lines sustained between New Lenox and Frankfort. Many trees were blown across roads west of New Lenox. At Joliet houses were damaged by the wind and a number of windows in the Silver Cross hospital were blown in.

TINLEY PARK GARDEN CLUB

By Mrs. R. J. Hug

There's a gay little clump of forget-me-nots That poked up their heads of blue Right in the midst of a garden prim And nobody knows how they grew.

Nobody planted forget-me-not seeds And you wouldn't think that they'd dare To scatter themselves so freely about When nobody wanted them there.

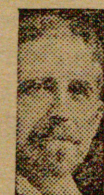

The pansies and iris grew just as they should, The jonquils in well chosen spots, And tulips sedately in neat little rows— All save the forget-me-nots!

There's a gay little clump of forget-me-nots That sprang up unasked and unbid Right in the midst of a garden prim, But I—well I'm glad that they did!

Cut Telephone From Mokena To Europe

A general rate reduction of $15 involving transatlantic telephone conversations between North America and Europe is announced by the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

The reduction cuts the rate from MOKENA to London from $48 to $33 for the first three minutes; MOKENA to Paris from $51.75 to $36.75; MOKENA to Berlin, from $53.25 to $38.25; MOKENA to Rome, from $54 to $39; MOKENA to Madrid, from $54 to $39, and MOKENA to Stockholm, from $54.75 to $39.75. On the basis of last year's traffic the reduction will mean a saving of approximately $450,000 a year to the users.

Chief among the factors enabling the company to put the new reduction into effect is increased usage of the service. During 1929 transatlantic telephone conversations averaged about fifty per business day.

This service started in 1927 with one radio channel connecting New York and London. Service is now on a full twenty-four hour basis, with four channels linking nearly all the countries of Western Europe with all telephones in the United States, Cuba and the majority of those in Canada and Mexico.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced plans for a radio telephone station on the Pacific Coast to connect with telephones in Hawaii and possibly other countries.

Midlothian Legion Notes

By K. SIDELL, Commander
I want to take this opportunity to thank the chairman of the Poppy Day Committee, and everyone who participated in the activities on Poppy Day, May 27th for the wonderful results that were obtained. It was the greatest year we ever had, and without the co-operation of all concerned, this could not have been effected.

There were 1131 poppies sold which netted $128, an average of 11 1-3 cents per poppy. This amount is to be dispersed as follows which conforms to the by-laws of the American Legion: $60 to be turned over to disabled veterans who made the poppies; $68.08 to remain in the service fund of Midlothian Post No. 691. This fund is to be disbursed by the Post when members or ex-service men in the community are in need of financial aid.

A "Night in Belleau Woods" will be presented at Clarke's barn June 14. Music by Blue Ramblers.

Midlothian Post has been asked by the United States Quartermaster General to assist in locating the widows and mothers of ex-service men buried in France.

Congress recently passed a bill of $5,000,000 to defray the expenses of widows and mothers to visit their husbands or sons graves in France. All expenses to and from the point of departure are paid by the government.

If there are any widows or mothers of ex-service men who are buried in France, write to Midlothian Post No. 691 and we will assist you in every way possible.

A WORD TO EX-SERVICE MEN
A distinguished World War fighter has referred to The American Legion as the "best insurance policy the nation could have". His conclusion was that the service men's organization was usually to be found on the right side of questions and issues pertaining to the nation's welfare as a whole.

Looking back upon the history of this comparatively young organization, it is worthy of note that its accomplishments have been as much for their country as for their own members and war fighters in general.

The Legion is credited with having forestalled a national campaign of radicals who sought to sow dissension among veterans and to capitalize the feelings of unrest pervading the country following the war. Thru its thousands of posts in every community the Legion disseminated the principles of true Americanism, patriotism and love for America, its members learned upon the battlefields of France. Today the tide of anarchism has ebbed. This body of young men bore the brunt of opposition to the Reds and was perhaps the most active organization contributing toward their defeat. Legionnaires are not visionary dreamers. They are Tony, Harvey, Frank and Charley, we meet on the street every day; they are practical young men who believe that the good of the individual is best augmented by the welfare of the nation. To that end they are the practical idealists of the age.

And practical idealism is good, sound national insurance.

Judge Unger At Weed Meet

Judge R. M. Unger of Oak Forest attended a weed-control meeting at the Hotel Sherman Saturday morning. The meeting was called by Phil S. Haney, superintendent of division of plant industry, state department of agriculture, to discuss ways and means of eradicating the Canada thistle.

Mr. Unger says that the penalty for refusing to destroy these pests has been changed from a fine of $1 to $100 to not less than $5 or more than $300. No weed commissioner has yet been appointed for this township.

Two cars going about 25 miles an hour crashed at the intersection of 159th and Crawford Thursday at 8:30 p. m. Both cars were badly damaged and the occupants bruised. According to the police reports the accident was caused by Dorothy Schwartz, 139th st., Blue Island, driving thru the stop sign. She was taken to the Midlothian hospital by F. F. Fratt, who was driving by.

MIDLOTHIAN FIRE DEPT. NEWS

By R. K. Cumming

The new truck arrived on Monday of last week. Tuesday, June 3, the Chicago Underwriters gave it a 3 hour test. Although the pump is rated at 500 gallons per minute, the test proved that it could throw 772 gallons per minute at 135 pounds of pressure. It was given an O. K.

THE MESSENGER next week will print a cut of the new truck and give the details regarding the truck and the test.

Fifteen members of the Midlothian Fire Dept., attended the regular monthly meeting of The Community Firemen's Association at Legion Hall, Blue Island, Monday night.

Attendance was 148 firemen representing 22 departments.

An invitation was extended to all of the fire departments of the Association to join the Junior Fire Department movement by Mr. Mahoney of the Chicago Daily News.

An interesting and enlightening talk was given by Mr. Blatti of the Railway Ice Company on the hazards of Ammonia Fumes and refrigeration plants and ways of overcoming them.

A short address of welcome was made by Mayor Kasten of Blue Island, who emphasized the fact that too little credit and thought was given the Volunteer Fireman, who leaves his bed, in all weather and risks his life and health to save lives and property for no compensation whatever, and as a sense of duty only.

Master Richard Ebert, Boy Scout of Harvey, who for one whole day was Fire Marshall of Harvey as part of Boy's Week observation, also gave a short address, and carried his part manfully.

All former officers were re-elected for another year. President, Chief Phillips of Chicago Heights. Vice-President, Chief John Link of Blue Island; Secretary, Wm. E. Hart of Thornton and Treasurer, Louis Reicher of Dolton, Ill.

Delightful music was rendered by an orchestra and after lunch was served and cigars passed all departed to their respective homes.

Committee Meets On Zoning

A committee of the East End Development association met with the village board Monday evening at the McIntosh Realty office. After considerable discussion it was agreed to postpone zoning until the building ordinance had been re-drafted and made up-to-date. It was suggested that plumbing and electrical inspectors be appointed to act with the building inspector.

The meeting was adjourned until Wednesday night. It is their plan to draft a suitable ordinance to present to the village board at the next regular meeting.

Dance At Clark's Barn

Mrs. N. Boda Dies After Operation

Mrs. Norman Boda, Springfield ave., died at St. Francis hospital at 4 a. m. Tuesday morning following an operation for gallstones. Funeral services will be held at St. Benedict's church, Blue Island, with burial at St. Benedict's cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, three sisters, two brothers, and five small children, Winifred 7, Lorraine 5, Francis and Norma twins, aged three and Gene, 6 months.

WHO'S WHO in MIDLOTHIAN

Henry A. Jebens rates as an "old timer" in Bremen township. His grandfather came to the township before the Civil War; his mother was born in a log cabin where the Nagel & Stolz yard is now located. Mr. Jebens was born in 1890 at 140th and Kedzie. His first two years of schooling were spent in the old stone school in Robbins; he finished the other eight grades in the Bremen school at 139th st.

Back when Mr. Jebens was a boy two milk trains stopped at Rexford Crossing (now Crawford ave.) His early years were typical of a farm boy, with occasional fishing trips to Shedd's pond to catch carp, sunfish and bullheads. In those days the stone quarry, then owned by the Schwartz family furnished much of the building material for Blue Island; even some sidewalks on Greenwood ave. were built of stone quarried here. The first Evangelical church on Grove st., was built entirely of this stone.

In 1911 Henry A. Jebens married Edna Kraft of Blue Island. For ten years they lived in Blue Island. Six years were spent on the old homestead. In 1926 they moved to Midlothian.

The couple have five children, Lois, Irene, Howard and Henry, (twins) and Myron. Mr. Jebens is employed as a forging machine operator by the Ingall-Sheppard works in Harvey.

When the Board of Education of district 143 was organized in 1921, Mr. Jebens was elected its first president. In 1929 he was elected a trustee of the village board of Midlothian and was re-elected again this April.

BASEBALL NOTES

BY H. H. Thormahlen

The baseball team sponsored by Midlothian Post 691 started the season on Memorial day, playing the team sponsored by Harvey Post. The local boys lost, 25 to 4, but as this is the first time the boys played together, they expect to do better after more practice.

All the boys in Midlothian, between the ages of 14 and 17 have been invited to join the team. The following have registered: Vernon Swillem, Louis DeRudder, John Rorke, Daniel Barnes, Wm. B. All home games will be played at the new park. The boys hope that the Midlothianites will support their team, win or lose.

Practice will be held at the park on Monday nights. June 14 is the deadline for enrollment and on that date the regular team of 14 will be picked. Baseball is our national game and the boys are doing their best to put Midlothian on the junior baseball map.

ACES WIN OVER GARFIELD

The Midlothian Aces played the Garfield AC's Sunday and won 10 to 2. It was a one-sided affair from start to finish. The AC's started the scoring in the 1st, when Stevenson flied out. Barnes walked, Moore advanced him on a sacrifice. E. Unger singled, scoring Stevenson. There was no more scoring until the Aces half of the 5th, when they scored 5 runs. L. Unger singled and was safe on second when Rafferty hit to the pitcher. Stevenson struck out, Barnes doubled scoring L. Unger. Moore doubled E. Unger singled scoring Rafferty, Jenkins singled, scoring Moore and E. Unger.

Midlothian made two more runs in the 7th and one each in the 8th and 9th. The hitting of E. Unger and L. Unger featured the game, while Buchbinder stole home in the 9th inning. Rafferty pitched a good game, allowing eight hits, Otto Cox started the game for the Garfields and was relieved by Orville Cox in the 5th.

The Aces made 12 hits for 10 runs, while the Garfields made eight hits for 2 runs.

Next Sunday the Aces play at home on the new field. Game starts at 3 p. m. Come out and help your team win.

The lineup was as follows:

Dog Bites Boy

Lavis Berger, six and one half years old, of St. Louis, ave., was bitten by a dog belonging to Mrs. Crane on Wednesday last. According to reports, the dog was chained in his own yard at the time. The boy was treated by Dr. Lippman at the Health Resort.

COUNTY POLICE RAID STILL IN VILLAGE

A garage house at 148th and Ridgeland was raided at 4 p. m. on Saturday and Andrew Rotegero, 143 East 117th St., Roseland said to be cooking aiki, was placed in the Blue Island jail and held without bonds being set.

According to the police, the place contained 55 50 gallon barrels of mash, a 100 gallon still, two 10 gal. compressed air gas tanks used for cooking aiki and nine 5 gallon cans of alcohol. All were destroyed except samples to be turned over to the prohibition department. The arrest was made by Sergeant John Orgel of the county police.

By Sunday night the doors had disappeared from the house, the barrels were gone and even the planking on the driveway had been removed.

Bremen Township Health Topics

For the information of those who did not attend the Health Exhibit at the Coliseum the past week, I will say that the exhibit was unusually good. The Illinois Home and Aid put on a program that was splendidly carried out by the children under their care. Some splendid health posters were shown from the various schools of Cook County. One from the Forest Ridge school was the only one I recognized from our township. The most outstanding poster in our booth was a map gotten up by Mr. J. Muss and Miss Harriet Fullmer, setting forth a picture of the work done by our own department. I will give a few of these statistics, as I think the public is interested in the work being done by the Public Health Nurse.

In 1929 the staff of 12 nurses and a supervisor made 7458 home visits found 8,333 physical defects in school children, recorded 7,100 corrections of defects, enrolled 1,000 babies in child health stations.

This does not take into account the many cases taken to dental clinics, appointments made at all the other clinics in the city.

The territory covered by this group of 12 field nurses is all towns, villages and unorganized territory in the purely rural section. This area covers 500 square miles including 228 school districts with 15,000 school children enrolled. The population of the area is 250,000.

East End To Fight R.I. Ditch

According to a statement from the East End Development association committee, the R. I. ditch project will be opposed by that group. The communication follows:

A committee of the association, consisting of John Gleason, Elmer Lange and Fred Baker, issued the following statement:

"At the meeting of the association it was decided that $70,000 was too much to spend for a temporary improvement. The benefits derived by the village, compared to Robbins and the R. I. R. R., are questionable, inasmuch as the taxpayers of Midlothian are to stand nearly all the expense.

"The proposed ditch is to be dug from 151st St. and R. I. R. R. to 139th St. and Kedzie Ave. This ditch is to be 20 feet west of the present one and the excavated material to be placed on the R. I. right of way for the improvement of their property. For this benefit the railroad will pay as little as possible, which is, at the most, about one-seventh of the estimated cost, or about $10,000. This leaves $60,000 to be spread by special assessment to the taxpayers of Midlothian.

"The plans do not provide for the widening of the bottle neck at 147th St. and Hamlin Ave., nor for the continuation of the ditch beyond 139th St., but does include two concrete bridges and the straightening of the meandering stream through the village of Robbins. This means that one-half mile of the ditch and two bridges are to be constructed outside of the village. Unquestionably, the cost of this portion will be at least one-half of the total cost of the ditch."

(This paper will ask the engineers for a full statement of the project for its next issue—The Editor.)

Foresaw the Telephone

The possibility of telephone or wireless telegraph was evidently in the mind of Galileo, for in 1632 he referred to "the secret art" by which through the sympathy of magnetic needles men might converse at long distance.

Slaves Were Shaved

A clean-shaven face in the East was originally a sign of servitude. Old pictures show kings and conquerors heavily bearded and with long hair, while their slaves and captives are clean-shaven and close-cropped. The Greeks and the Romans later discarded "face fungus," as it gave their enemies a hand-hold in the close fighting, which was, of course, the rule in those days.

Frank B. Sayers, Orland Herd Sets Dairy Record

M-m-m What does this mean? The D. H. I. A. stands for Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Foam to the dairy man is that fluffy something that we find on the top of a pail of milk. In this case we have a pail of incidents and the foam is that part which we feel the readers would be interested in.

The D. H. I. A. was organized in Mc Henry county by a group of dairy men that wanted to know their cows, not their onions. In 1917 the university saw the value of the work and an active effort was made to teach the farmer the importance of the work. Today approximately 1,500 leading dairymen are having their herd tested; 1929 marked the peak of progress in expansion of associations and of average fat, this being the first year that the average for all cows exceeded the 300 pound mark.

The work deals with efficiency in production of milk and fat. It is for the purpose of pointing out the cows that do not pay for their feed and care, so that they may be culled out and good cows given chance to make a substantial herd profit. It is done by a tester who weighs the feed consumed and the milk produced and tested for fat one day each month, and from this data and the market price of feed and milk figures the profits or loss. He also gives advice on the ration which the farmer may take advantage of. During the past year the high fat cow returned $195.50 above the cost of feed while a cow that has been sent to the butcher made her owner a profit of $1.74 for the year, this appears that there is need of checking up on them.

Now we had better get back to this foam part. During the month a state testers conference was held at Urbana; 52 of the testers were present and many interesting and educational talks were heard. The annual report for 1929 Herd Improvement work was mailed out during May. This month marked the first month for some time that the five high herds were over the 30 pounds of fat mark. Let us keep fine herds up there, so come on fellows, "Feed the cow not the herd" is our slogan from now on.

During the month 161 cows were tested which made an aver. of 851 pounds of milk and 28.3 pounds of fat; 19 of the 161 cows were dry; 41 cows each produced 40 pounds of fat or more for the month. J. Y. Parker, Tony Welter, C. H. Andres and Dr. Vaughan each took a cow apiece for a ride.

Frank B. Sayers of Orland led the field for May with his herd of 9 Pure Bred Holsteins, making an average production of 1196 pounds of milk and 38.3 pounds of fat.

Hyde Park Farm had second place with an average production of 1210 pounds of milk and 37.2 pounds of fat for the herd of 14 P.

B. H.; one was dry.

Dr. Vaughan of Homewood came in third with an average of 1040 pounds of milk and 36.6 pounds of fat for the herd of 9 P. B. and G. H. cows.

Mrs. Amela Bettenhausen of Tinley Park placed fourth with her herd of 19 P. B. H. and G. G. cows, making an average of 958 pounds of milk and 32.6 pounds of fat; two of the 19 cows were dry.

The fifth herd owned by Tony Welter of Orland made an average of 990 pounds of milk and 31.5 pounds of fat; one of the 16 P. B. S. cows, making an average of 820 pounds of milk and 30.2 pounds of fat, but we will mention them as they were over the 30 pound mark.

Practically every member had at least one cow over the pound mark for individuals, and every one was feeding grain although some had turned to pasture. Guess the figures have shown them it pays to feed grain in summer.

I imagine this column is growing and do do not know just what the paper or the members think of our tester as a reporter; so I had better pick up my bottles and call it a day.

Public Service Co., Announces New Rate Reduction

"Altho this new rate does not cancel the existing rate for residential service, and any customer is privileged to return to the old rate if he chooses, after having tried the new rate out," Mr. Learned said, "we believe the new rate will be generally accepted because it is a reduction to practically all residential customers. The new rate is a modernized method of charging for electricity. Its simplicity makes it easy to understand. It is a development to avoid consideration of the number of lighting outlets and sockets in computing bills. Under the new rate the charges for electricity are based on the number of rooms and the amount of electricity consumed so that any customer may equip his home for lights and small appliances without limitation."

A survey to determine the number of rooms in residences throughout the territory served has been made by the Public Service Company in connection with the establishment of this rate, and a continuation of this survey will be necessary from time to time to keep the company's records accurate.

Coincident with the filing of a new rate for residential service the company has also filed a new light and power rate for small commercial users, such as stores, shops and offices. This new commercial rate, which will be available on August 1st, will make it possible for a majority of the small commercial customers to secure a reduction in their costs for electric service over a year's period.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS Announces Its Ninth REDUCTION in RATE for RESIDENTIAL ELECTRIC SERVICE

On August 1st, 1930, the Following Reduced Rate will be in effect for Residential Customers:

8c net per kilowatt-hour for electricity used in any month equivalent to or less than the first 4 kilowatt-hours per room;

(This portion of the rate will be 1c higher in Arlington Heights, Kenilworth, Lake Bluff and Melrose Park, due to ordinance provisions.)

7c net per kilowatt-hour for additional electricity used in the month equivalent to or less than the next 4 kilowatt-hours per room;

5c net per kilowatt-hour for additional electricity used in the month equivalent to or less than the next 4 kilowatt-hours per room;

3c net per kilowatt-hour for all electricity used in the month in excess of the equivalent of the first 12 kilowatt-hours per room.

ABOUT THE NEW RATE

This, the ninth reduction in electric rates since the Company's organization in 1911, is made possible through the increased usage of electricity by our residential and commercial customers, and through the increased efficiency of Central Station operation. This new reduced rate affords you the convenience and luxury of additional electricity for your home for the same money.

This new rate will bring a saving to residential users of electricity supplied by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois of about $1,117,000.00 during a period of twelve months.

This saving will be effected in two ways: first, through a reduction in the rate to 8c, 7c, 5c and 3c (net) per kilowatt hour, according to the amount of electricity used; second, by computing the first rate, second rate and third rate kilowatt hours on the number of rooms, instead of on the number of sockets which has been the practice heretofore.

The new rate is a more simplified form of charge for electricity. Since the number of sockets is not considered in the computation of charges, residential customers may have an unlimited number of outlets for increasing lighting facilities and for using an unlimited number of ordinary domestic appliances. Bills will be computed on the basis of the number of rooms and the number of kilowatt hours consumed.

A residential survey has been made to determine the number of rooms upon which the charges will be based. The Company will from time to time continue to make such surveys in order to keep accurate records of the number of rooms.

The new rate schedule does not cancel the old rate for residential service. Should any customer, after trying the new rate, be disposed to have his charges computed under the old rate, the Company will do so upon request, providing the request is made before February 1, 1931.

Reduction in Commercial Rate

Effective on the same date as the reduction in rate for residential service, there will also be available a new light and power rate for small commercial users, such as stores, shops and offices. For the majority of such customers this new commercial rate will effect a reduction in the cost of electricity over a year's period.

A detailed schedule of these rates is on file at every office of the Company.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS
Hiram L. Williamson, Secretary of the Illinois State Geological Survey, is inaugurating a program, making available to the public schools of Illinois information concerning the geology of the state which has been discovered during the past 25 years of investigations, and which promises to become one of the most active and worthwhile educational undertakings, according to Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the survey. One of the most important phases of the program consists of six scheduled earth-history field trips for science teachers, to be conducted in various parts of the state each year and arranged for by the teachers themselves. The preparation and distribution of representative study and exhibition sets of the common rocks, minerals and fossils of the state to all high schools petitioning for them, is another important angle of this educational service. The sets will be accompanied by supplementary study manuals which will contain discussions of the various mineral resources which make Illinois rank ahead of 41 other states of the Union in value of production. Mr. Don Carroll, a geologist of special university graduate training, has recently been added to the geological survey staff to give his attention to this work.

Addressing the Native Daughters of Illinois, Dr. A. R. Crook, curator of the Illinois State museum, urged the need for a separate building for the museum. Doctor Crook pointed out that Illinois is wealthy in museum material and that a new building would permit a better display of the beauty, wealth and natural resources of the state.

Lawrence Murdock, Ottawa high school pupil, is Illinois' candidate for the Thomas A. Edison appointment. He was chosen as the best equipped of eight boys who won in the regional tests, by the full examining committee, headed by Pres. David Kinley of the University of Illinois. Murdock will go to Orange, N. J., for the national elimination. Acting on the suggestion of Gov. Louis L. Emmerson that an alternate be named the committee selected Charles T. Richards, Edwardsville, as alternate.

Searching for a fitting subject to add to the 129 figurines of famous women presented to the state of Illinois by Minna Schmidt, Chicago costumer, in the only unrepresented field of endeavor—that of sculptress, Miss Georgia L. Osborne, librarian of the Illinois State Historical society, uncovered the interesting careers of the two granddaughters of former Gov. John L. Beveridge. Miss Kuhne Beveridge is a sculptress, numbering among her subjects many world-famous people. Her sister, Ray Beveridge is an actress of renown, and a journalist. The sisters are now living in Italy.

With the convening of the Illinois Supreme court for the June term Tuesday, June 3, Justice Frank K. Dunn, Charleston, became chief justice for the year. The honor of presiding justice rotates among members of the court and it has fallen to Justice Dunn on several other occasions during the 20 or more years he has been on the bench.

Work on the remodeling of the Lincoln monument, Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, has begun. An appropriation for the project was made at the last general assembly.

A number of officials of the state department of public welfare will attend the national conference of social workers to be held in Boston June 9 to 14. Among those who will attend are Mrs. Mary L. Silvis, assistant director; Miss Edna Zimmerman, superintendent of child welfare; and Mrs. George Thomas Palmer, probation officer.

The work of the library extension division in circulating books on household management and child care and training through the county home bureaus has met with a hearty response throughout the state. The enthusiastic co-operation of the home advisors has helped to make the work successful. The library extension division is preparing a course of recreational reading in current literature to be circulated in the same manner.

The Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs through its legislative committee took organization steps toward promoting the cause of jury service for women in the state of Illinois. The referendum on this issue will be taken at the fall election as authorized by the last general assembly.

Resignation of T. Loyal Anderson, actuary of the state division of insurance for nearly five years, is announced by Director Leo H. Lowe of the state department of trade and commerce. On July 1 Anderson will become assistant actuary of a Chicago life insurance company.

Dr. A. Vanderhorst, formerly an instructor at Lincoln college, has been appointed president of that institution to succeed Dr. A. E. Turner, resigned. Doctor Turner was head of Lincoln college for 27 years.

The first copy of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce's publication, "Illinois Resources and Development Possibilities," to come from the presses was presented to Gov. Louis L. Emmerson by J. Paul Clayton, Springfield, vice president of the association and chairman of its industrial development committee. Governor Emmerson in receiving the book expressed his sincere appreciation of the gift and praised the Illinois Chamber of Commerce for its constructive effort to contribute to the progress of the state.

The Illinois State Normal school board in session at Charleston elected H. A. Brown, president of Oshkosh, (Wis.) Normal college, president of the Illinois State Normal university at Normal, to succeed the late Dr. David Felmeley.

Mrs. Mary A. Wall, Murphysboro, was elected president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, at the closing session of the annual convention, held at the Centennial building, Springfield. The retiring president, Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, Chicago, was elected general federation director for Illinois. Chicago was selected for the 1931 convention.

The tourist guide to Illinois, being prepared by the publicity committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, calls attention to the fact that nearly every city in central Illinois has some landmark or building that marks the past presence of Lincoln. Lincoln's monument and tomb at Springfield, Old Salem, Metamora courthouse, points in Greene county, the city of Lincoln, and other places are mentioned. The historic background of Jacksonville is given together with the story of Fort Creve Coeur, old Fort Edwards near Warsaw, Winchester, old home of Stephen A. Douglas, Uncle Joe Cannon's home at Danville, etc. The Indian mounds in Fulton county, quaint Bernadotte, Nauvoo and other points of more than ordinary interest are cited for the benefit of the traveler in Illinois. The guide has received the warm approval of Governor Emmerson. It has been collected through the co-operation of 27 newspaper editors, local chambers of commerce and individuals and will include a large number of photographs illustrating each particular section.

Senator Otis F. Glenn gave the principal address at the dedication of the memorial to Gen. John A. Logan at Murphysboro, on Saturday, May 24. Charles F. Mansfield, Springfield, for 17 years assistant attorney general of Illinois, died in St. Luke's hospital, Chicago, May 24. He had a record of never having lost a lawsuit for the state. For eight years he was state's attorney of Platt county. Mr. Mansfield was past Illinois president of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology.

Members of Typographic Union No. 177, Springfield, held memorial exercises at the grave of Robert Edie, former secretary-treasurer of the union, in the Roselawn Memorial park, Springfield. H. L. Williamson, secretary of the Illinois Press association, made a short address, eulogizing Mr. Edie and his efforts in behalf of local printers.

An air tour of Illinois designed to show the strides the state is taking in the development of airports and to foster the industrial use of aviation is announced by Reed G. Landis, chairman of the aviation committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. James H. JESUS IN THE SHADOW OF THE CROSS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 26:1-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—He went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Proves His Love for Us.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Suffering for Us.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Agony in the Garden.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Gethsemane.

I. Plotting the Death of Jesus (vv. 1-5).

Christ with divine insight predicted not only the fact of His death, but its time and manner. The Jewish authorities in secret conclave were plotting to silence His voice by putting him to death. In spite of themselves they were moving in the line of God's decree.

II. Mary of Bethany Anoints Jesus (vv. 6-13).

1. The meaning of the act (vv. 6, 7). This anointing occurred when Jesus was at meat in Simon's house. Mary had the keenest apprehension of all the disciples. By sitting at His feet in loving fellowship, she obtained a grasp of truth which none of the other disciples had. She saw that His body was to be broken and that His precious life was to go out. She entered into fellowship with His sufferings and the joy of His resurrection.

2. The indignation of the disciples (vv. 8, 9).

The action of the disciples is in strange contrast with Mary's love.

3. Mary defended by Christ (vv. 10-13).

Jesus could not allow His most appreciative disciple to lie under this curse, so He came to her rescue. As a result of Christ's defense, Judas is so stung by rebuke that he hastens away to betray his Lord.

III. Jesus Betrayed (vv. 14-30).

1. The bargain of betrayal (vv. 14-16).

Satan so completely had the mastery over Judas that he sold his Lord for the price of a slave (Ex. 21:32).

2. The betrayal announced (vv. 20-25).

While they were eating the Passover Jesus made this announcement. Who knows but that the reason for the announcement at this time was to give Judas an opportunity to repent? The sorrowful question in verse 22 indicates that the disciples did not seem to suspect one another, but directed personal attention to themselves.

IV. The Disciples Warned (vv. 31-35).

This took place as they walked from the upper room to the garden of Gethsemane. Jesus plainly told them, "All ye shall be offended because of me this night," quoting Zechariah 13:7 as proof. Though He told them of the darkness which was gathering, yet He gave them a glimpse of the coming light. He said, "After I am risen again I will go before you into Galilee."

V. Jesus Praying (vv. 36-46).

1. The place—the Garden of Gethsemane (v. 36). Gethsemane means oil press. It was a place some three-fourths of a mile east of Jerusalem, where oil was crushed out of the olives.

2. His companions (v. 37).

Peter, James and John. The same disciples who had been with Him on the Mount of Transfiguration are permitted to go with Him into the deep shadow of the Garden. They slept, while He prayed.

3. Jesus sorrowing even unto death (vv. 37, 38).

The cause of His suffering was not primarily physical, but spiritual. The physical is not to be minimized, but the burden of sin—the world's sin—was pressing heavily upon Him. He was being made sin for us (II Cor. 5:21).

4. The prayer itself (v. 39).

"O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me." What was this cup? It was not prayer to be delivered from the cross. The idea that He desired to escape from the cross and thus stop short of His redemptive work is not to be entertained. Redemption through the sacrifice of Himself was the supreme purpose of His coming into the world. The holiness and perfection of His nature moved Him to shrink from the mountain of sin which was resting upon Him. Though the cup was bitter, He bowed in submission to the Father's will.

An Important Power

Man has one power in particular which is not sufficiently dwelt on. It is the power of making the world happy, or at least of so greatly diminishing the amount of unhappiness in it as to make quite a different world from what it is at present. The power is called kindness.—F. W. Faber.

Odd Penalty Inflicted for Picking Tree Leaf

Every leaf you pluck costs you a piece of your shirt!

This stringent and fantastic penalty was exacted for violating the protection bestowed by an emperor on a tree. The tree was an ancient lime tree that stood in the town of Adelsheim in Baden, Germany, and the Emperor Ruprecht decreed its perpetual protection in 1401. So strong was the tradition of this medieval enactment that even at the beginning of the Nineteenth century offenders were still penalized for plucking twigs or leaves; although a modification of the original rule, almost as fantastic as the emperor's whimsical decree itself, let offenders off with whole shirts if they would buy ribbons and tie them to the tree.

By 1807, however, the tree had declined to such a ruinous state that it had to be cut down, and for 50 years or so its place stood empty. Now, however, a new lime tree grows where the "Emperor's Tree" once stood.—Kansas City Star Science Service.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote: "My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen! I call you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by that Kruschen feeling of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live drugist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

Victory for Eagles

After two years of warfare against a representative of Uncle Sam two bald eagles stand victorious with Uncle Sam's agent in full retreat. The latter, a telegraph operator, has been stationed atop a 40-foot pole to register the shots fired from the naval station at Dahlgren, Va. Upon this perch the eagles built their nest and a conflict has been raging for possession, with the operator forbidden from shooting the birds under a penalty of a $50 fine. So he retreated to a new pole, conceding victory to the eagles.

Nonsense

Jean Assolant, the French airman, said at his wedding breakfast in Old Orchard: "Everybody ought to get married. Most people's excuses for not marrying are as nonsensical as Sir Thomas Lipton's."

Pathetic Reunion That Has Film Outclassed

Stranger than fiction and more moving than a film is a story which comes from Saint Omer, France. The scene is a cafe at Quivrecrain. Among the customers is an elderly woman. A miner enters. He has a story to tell. He relates how his father abandoned his mother in this very same village of Quivrecrain in 1855, and took him to America when he was three years of age. His father died shortly after his arrival, and he was adopted by Poles, who made a miner of him. Eventually he returned to France, working in a pit at Hensies and passing as a Polish miner. The elderly woman put questions, and the miner was astonished when the woman jumped up in great excitement and declared that he was not a Pole, but a Frenchman, and that he was her son, taken from her 44 years ago.

STORY FROM THE START

Capt. Lion Fellowes' American merchant ship is sunk by a British frigate off Portugal in the War of 1812. Fellowes' life is saved by an English-speaking girl, who conceals her identity. Fellowes goes to Lisbon where he meets an acquaintance, Capt. Chater, of the American ship True Bounty, who offers him a berth as a mate, but knowing Chater is disloyal in trading with the enemy, he refuses. He meets the girl who saved his life, Cara Inglepin, daughter of the owner of True Bounty. She is bound for home and induces Fellowes to sail as mate. He is in love with Cara. The vessel is stopped by the British frigate, Badger, Captain Collishawe. Fellowes is taken aboard the Badger as a "pressed" man. Maddened at what he believes is Cara's and Chater's treachery he strikes Collishawe, who orders him a hundred lashes with the "cat." Fellowes' hatred of the three becomes an obsession. Off New York Fellowes escapes from the Badger. He seizes a plot in a meeting to be held at Chater's home and gathers a company of militia to circumvent the plotters. In a fight between the militia and British sailors Collishawe escapes. At Chater's home Fellowes finds Cara, her father and Chater. Fellowes scoffs at the girl's denial of conniving at his kidnapping.

A sneeze from Miss Inglepin—under whose nose the duenna was burning feathers—attracted Sopher's attention to the couch.

"I trust the lady is uninjured?" he asked, with a suspicious glance at Fellowes' companions.

"She fainted. An excess of—shall we say contrition, Mr. Inglepin?"

"An excess of abominable misusage," flared her father. "What woman wouldn't faint after such a night? A pitched battle outside her windows—a mangled body before her eyes—naked men forcing themselves into her presence!"

"You overlook a period of captivity in the hands of her country's enemies," remarked Fellowes. "And I must add still another to your list of outrages. 'Twill be necessary to search her, as I have said."

"You'd miss no chance to humiliate her," returned Inglepin. "'Tis to be expected, sir."

Yet, for all his bluster, Fellowes detected in the merchant's bearing an aspect of relief. Chater, too, resumed his position by the mantelpiece, a deer of derision in his greenish eyes. Could it be that they had no documentary evidence to conceal, and accepted the threat of search as admission his case against them would collapse without it? His lips tightened; his voice hardened.

"Send a man for Mrs. Rhodes, Nimrod."

"She's outside. She came up from the village when she heard some of the men were hurt."

"Have her in. I want her to search these women."

Sopher flung up a window.

"Corporal Eatches! Ask Mrs. Rhodes to be good enough to step inside."

She bustled in the door, and stood for a moment, blinking her eyes at the company.

"A regular party," she commented. "Waail, squire, I see ye lost yer shirt. 'Must have been a real battle, by all accounts. What's wrong with the gal, thar?"

"She'll be all right," Fellowes answered. "I want you to search her, Mrs. Rhodes. The Portuguese woman, too."

Mrs. Rhodes planted herself in front of the sofa, arms akimbo.

"And what do I s'arch 'em for?" she demanded.

"Papers. Anything, except the clothes they wear—and make certain no documents are concealed in seams or pockets."

"Leave 'em to me," the widow returned briskly. "And c'lar out all these menfolks."

As Fellowes herded captives and captors into the hall, she was already at her task, closing the doors that connected with the dining-room, her lips moving in prayer.

Sopher dropped back beside Fellowes, a worried look in the lawyer's horse face.

"I'm not entirely positive as to the legality of these measures, Lion," he remarked confidentially. "If we find nothing—"

"Man, I saw Miss Inglepin coming out of British headquarters in Lisbon with Lord Wellington—talking treason, if words mean anything. I saw her exchanging documents with Collishawe in Chater's cabin—and was I cramped by Collishawe simply because he needed another hand? Use your wits, Nimrod!"

"'Tis my wits tell me we must have documentary proof of all that," the lawyer retorted doggedly. "But argument will carry us no whither. Do you search Inglepin, and I will take Chater."

Their prisoners submitted with an ill grace, both, however, in no wise disturbed seriously—which wasn't odd, for nothing of moment was found on either of them. A search of the house produced a quantity of correspondence, and a map of the country showing the rough division of political sentiment; but not a line of matter more offensive than was openly preached in every Federalist newspaper.

Descending the stairs, very mournfully, they encountered Mrs. Rhodes, waiting outside the parlor door, a triumphant smile on her angular features.

A Search of the House Produced a Quantity of Correspondence.

"Thar were jest this," she announced, extending a single sheet of notepaper. "In the lady's bodice."

Fellowes accepted the sheet from her, and carried it to the open front door to examine, Sopher peering over his shoulder. The letter-flap was unadorned, unsealed and unfranked. On the inner side was written:

H. M. S. Badger,
On Station off New York,
July 8, 1813

Dearest Cara:

If we are denied a word alone, I write this to substitute for the plea I would prefer to offer with my lips. 'Tis the Plea has been in my heart since we met first at the Rothsays' in London. Will you marry me? I have little to offer, save a fond heart, and I see no chance of coming off the sea short of a General Peace, and God knows when That will be, if ever. But there you are. Prithree be kind, and send me Hope of the future. Whether you do, or don't, tho', I subscribe myself with All good Wishes, Yr obt hble sv't,
James Collishawe.

Bewildered, reluctantly abashed, Fellowes was yet entirely skeptical. "I'll not believe it," he cried. "'Tis a blind! Can't you see that? They are clever, abominably clever."

"I grant you, Lion," returned Sopher, "but 'tis the one piece of evidence we find, and it upholds Miss Inglepin's story."

Fellowes studied the letter through narrowed eyes.

"'Tis honest, but—Do you believe, Nimrod, that the captain of a British man-o-war came ashore, with twenty men and a boat-gun, to pay a call on a woman? Do you believe that others will believe it?"

Sopher shrugged his shoulders.

United States Takes High Rank in Healing

At the beginning of the Nineteenth century, according to Doctor Osier, there were only three medical schools in the United States and only two general hospitals. Students who desired a better education than they could receive locally were forced to go abroad.

There were only a few medical journals in circulation in this country and almost no American medical books had been published. Around the middle of the century, many new medical schools were founded, but their standards were low and the education they gave was poor.

The reformation started in Harvard shortly after President Elliot assumed office in 1869 and quickly spread to the other medical schools of the country, stirring them all to new life and activity. We have now eighty medical

"How matters it what we believe—or others? There'll be talk, and people will say Inglepin and his daughter are disloyal. But that is said already. And talk is not legal evidence."

Mrs. Rhodes, listening to their debate, struck in swiftly:

"I dunno 'bout what other folks'll believe, but I can tell ye right now Nimrod Sopher, Miss ain't happy over what she's done—or ain't done. She didn't want for me to take that letter, not one bit."

"Ah! I think I'll return it to her," Fellowes said, and walked down the hall to the parlor door.

"Come in," Cara Inglepin answered his knock.

She was sitting on the sofa as when he had first seen her, drinking a glass of wine. The duenna was beside her, dumbly protective. Her father and Chater, talking restrainedly in a far corner, met Fellowes with frankly hostile glances.

"Is it necessary for you to annoy us further, sir?" demanded Inglepin.

Fellowes ignored the question.

"I regret we felt obliged to take this from you, ma'am." He placed the letter in the listless hand she put out for it. "You have my apologies for the intrusion. I am confident Captain Collishawe is too honorable a man to have intended it should be used to cover a political intrigue."

The startled look she gave him was his reward.

"Your confidence does you honor, sir," she acknowledged gratefully. "And, oh, Captain Fellowes—"

"Don't ye talk to him, Miss Cara," Chater interrupted. "I'll thank ye to get out o' my house, and stay out, Fellowes. Ye ain't got no excuse for biddin' a minute. I'll have the law on ye, if ye bother me ag'in."

"Try the law, you fool," Fellowes retorted contemptuously. "I'm done with it."

Passing out the parlor door he heard Cara Inglepin catch her breath, and understood she was shocked anew at the spectacle of his scarred back. But he was puzzled that this sign of remorse should inspire him with pity rather than exultation. He resolved to root out all pity from his heart, lest it undermine the strength of his hatred.

Fellowes awakened slowly, conscious of an unaccustomed sense of luxury. Sunshine was warm in his face, soft linen caressed his body. It was very different from the berth-deck of the Badger. He was in his own room at the Manor. A suit of clothes hung on a chair, all brushed and neat. Towels were draped on a rack. Evidently, some one had been busy putting a disused house in order while he slept. He learned who that some one was when the Widow Rhodes' voice drifted in to him through a door that stood ajar.

"Come right in, Nimrod. If he ain't up yet, it's time he was riz. A man can't more'n sleep the clock 'round in comfort."

Fellowes slid out of bed, chuckling, languidly satisfied. The world seemed good after twenty-four hours' rest. And he was home. He strolled to the window, and the world turned gloomy in a moment. Beyond the maples, and the creek fields and the creek, itself, he saw the lane winding from Chater's house to the South Country road, and rolling along in a shower of dust a cumbersome post-chaise. While he watched, it lurched around a corner and vanished under the thick leafage of the trees lining the main road.

His face was so grim that when Sopher entered the room the lawyer nodded understandingly.

"Good morning, Lion, good morning, my dear fellow!" he exclaimed with a patent effort at cheeriness. "You are the better for a proper sleep, I see. And watching our—ah—antagonists' departure. Returning to the city, I believe. Let us hope, a thought chastened by their experience."

"You may hope it," snapped Fellowes, beginning to dress. "I don't. They are on their way to do whatever they arranged with Collishawe."

"Oh, my dear Lion! You are unreasonable. We have no evidence—"

"We have plenty of evidence. What we require is a method of exploiting it. I think Joshua Inglepin is the man for my purpose. If he is, and sees it, we'll lay the story before the federal authorities—and the governor. Is Jeff Riggle still in the village?"

"Yes, he waited on the possibility you might wish his services."

"Send word to the General Armstrong we'll drive west in an hour. Have you any money for me? Enough to buy a ship?"

FAVOR SATIN-STRIPE SHIRTINGS; COSTUMES FOR BEACH LOUNGERS

A MULTITUDE of lovely weaves, colorings and fascinating effects come under the caption "sports silks" this season. The best of it is, no matter how delicate their pastel blues or pinks, eggshell shades, pale greens, yellows or any of the other delectable tints, these enchanting silks, whether shanting, flat crepe or what not, are capable of being rubbed and tubbed without sacrificing an iota of their original beauty. And that's the marvel of it, that silks can be so exquisitely lovely, fans has for the most part resolved itself into a matter of pajama ensembles. And such ensembles! They are all that their name implies, ensembling as they do about every item of wearing apparel there is to ensemble from beach bags, shoes, wraps, shirts, blouses, coats and trousers to parasols and huge hats. Wherefore it is plain to be seen that beach costume has become an elaborated and complicated affair.

It's heaps of fun, just the same, planning one's beach togs, if for no

and at the same time so practical because they are washable, and because they yield so satisfactorily to tailored treatment.

While the list of popular sports silks is long this season, when it comes to outstanding types, the handsome striped shirtings rank among the foremost. One of the chief charms of these striped silks is their incomparable laundering qualities. The new basque stripes are especially attractive. These feature satin stripes on a dull-finish crepe background, the entire carried out in monotone pastel. The colors of these basque-stripe silks are perfect, including the much-wanted baby blue, odd shades of pink, mauve, beige and yellow. In fact they are available in any of the new summer soft subtle tones, also quite a few bright shades.

For the sleeveless tennis frock pictured the stripes are worked in a very designful manner, thus enhancing the appearance of the frock, at the same time maintaining a coveted tailored simplicity.

The summer sports story so far as the making of frocks is concerned is a continuous recital of interesting detail which has to do with such subtle touches as the new cap and puff sleeves, low décolletage suntan backs, scalloped, saw-tooth edges, belts, buttons, one-piece frocks, the tucked-in blouse, pleated skirts (sometimes the costume consists of skirt, shirt and shorts), and if the skirt be not pleated then it is liable to be circular cut.

Other reason than that there's one time one may be as reckless and temperamental as one pleases, indulging in the wildest extravagances of color, fabric and design without fear of being criticized. In fact the more bizarre the merrier, seems to be the sentiment of the mode when it comes to garbing those who would stroll on the sands, take a dive or a dip in the ocean blue or loit in supreme content while they acquire a healthful suntan.

The outfit pictured below shows how exceedingly picturesque a beach ensemble can be. Like most of mid-lady's costumes this pajama outfit with its matching parasol, shoes and beach bag (on the bench at her side) has made it a point to "get into print"—printed crepe in this instance suggesting Mexico in its red and orange coloring.

Very striking pajamas designed for gay beach wear fashions the trousers of navy blue crepe polka-dotted in white. The coat is made of navy blue

Pajama Ensemble for the Beach.

Most every sports frock has its own jacket, too, which counts in its favor so far as wearableness and general utility is concerned.

There is every indication that the all-white sports costume will prove a winner as well as the pastel colored outfit.

Very frequently the frock is of washable silk, the coat topping it being a novelty woolen weave such as white basket cloth or white flannel.

For Beach Fans.

Vacationing at the beach? Well, for such fashion has an intensely interesting message in regard to that ever recurring what-to-wear problem. Fact is the clothes question for beach silk with navy insignia on one arm, a white vest being embroidered with an anchor.

Pleated pajamas are quite the rage. That is, there is a flounce of knife pleating from above the knee to the ankle. The first impression is that of a skirt with a pleated flounce.

The beach hat is a very intriguing item this season, reaching proportions which are amazing, yet withal very practical as a protection from the sun. Not only are straws of every color employed for these hats but novel fabrics are conjured into wide brims and generous crowns.

APPETIZING DISHES

In the spring and early summer green foods—fresh vegetables and fruit—are more appealing than more complicated foods. There are some roughage foods that are needed all the year round and an occasional use of bran in food, or, taken in water as a drink, will keep the elimination good. For the children the bran may be given in small cakes, cookies and macaroons.

Bran Date Muffins.—Break two eggs into a mixing bowl and beat with an egg beater for two minutes; add two-thirds of a cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-fourth cupful of softened shortening. Add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder to one cupful of flour, add one cupful of bran, one-half cupful each of dates cut fine, and one-half cupful of nuts cut fine. Mix all as usual and beat well. Bake in well greased muffin pans for twenty-five minutes.

Liver Sandwiches.—Rub cooked liver while hot through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and mix with three-fourths the amount of thinly sliced olives. Spread on buttered rye bread.

Calif's Liver Sandwich Spread.—Rub cooked liver with hard-cooked eggs through a sieve, using to one pound of liver three hard cooked eggs. Add one grated onion, salt and pepper to season. Mix well and spread on buttered bread. A layer of thinly sliced sour pickle will add to the sandwich.

Chicken Liver and Jelly Sandwich.—Boil two chicken livers until tender; chop fine. Add salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a tablespoonful of currant jelly. Butter is not needed with this filling.

Shrimp and Liver Sandwiches.—Take one cupful of cooked shrimps, one cupful of cooked chicken livers, one Bermuda onion and one green pepper. Remove the seeds from the pepper and grind with all the other ingredients; mix with a little mayonnaise or chili sauce. Use on buttered white bread for filling.

Savory Liver Sandwich.—Chop a cooked chicken liver fine. Soften a package of cream cheese with heavy cream or mayonnaise. Add the liver, a teaspoonful of finely minced celery leaves, pepper, salt to taste, one-half teaspoonful of curry powder and one small gherkin finely chopped. Mix to a paste and spread on unbuttered bread. If too stiff add more cream or mayonnaise.

Broiled bacon and chicken liver put through a food chopper and mixed with mayonnaise makes a good filling for sandwiches.

TASTY SANDWICHES

This is the season for the sandwich. The following will be helpful in preparing your lunch baskets or sandwiches for the porch or garden parties:

Emergency Sandwich.—Put six sweet pickles through the food chopper, also five hard-cooked eggs. Cream two tablespoonfuls of peanut butter with one of prepared mustard and add the pickle and eggs with salt and pepper to taste. Add a dash of vinegar to thin the mixture and a bit of paprika for added seasoning. Spread on whole wheat or rye bread.

Sardine Sandwich.—Take one cupful of minced sardines, one-half cupful of stuffed olives chopped, one teaspoonful of scraped onion, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and three tablespoonfuls of cream. Mix and spread on buttered brown bread.

Lobster and Celery Sandwich.—Mince fine the meat of a fresh boiled lobster. Moisten with heavy mayonnaise, add a dash of cayenne and two teaspoonfuls of minced white celery leaves. Spread on rounds of bread and decorate with a stuffed olive. These are served open, or they may be covered with another slice of bread and use the stuffed olives minced.

Egg and Chutney Sandwich.—Mash as many hard-cooked egg yolks as desired and chop the whites fine. Mix enough chutney with the yolks to make a spreading paste and spread on thin slices of buttered bread. Sprinkle with the finely chopped whites and lay a very tender lettuce leaf on all. Cover with another slice of buttered bread.

Pineapple and Tuna Fish Sandwich.—Take one can of tuna, drain and flake, add salt and pepper and two tablespoonfuls of chopped pickle, add French dressing to soften and then add three-fourths of a cupful of drained crushed pineapple. Spread on buttered bread.

Salmon with lemon juice mixed to a paste and spread on bread, or flaked salmon with a good boiled salad dressing spread on buttered rye bread make most satisfying sandwiches.
